

ABSTRACT

A computer implemented method for deciding and justifying make or buy decisions in which it is determined whether to make an item in-house or to buy the item from outside suppliers. Also disclosed are computer implemented methods of determining and justifying
5 an optimal timing to implement an engineering change order in which a more expensive item is replaced with a less expensive item.